

Plant Manager Automotive NEV (m/f)

Company

Our client is a global leader in Electro-thermic and Electronic, it is developing customized solutions for automotive industry Worldwide. To Manage our Team in Changshu (Jiangsu province), we need a qualified person and this we are looking for a Plant Manager Automotive NEV.

Main Tasks

You will lead a multi-functional management team including Safety, Manufacturing engineering, Maintenance, Factory Logistic, Production, Factory Project Management, Application center and all supporting function.

Reporting: General operations Manager Group

Responsibility

Ensure Manufacturing site compliance with safety regulatory and environmental requirements as well as our client's local law business principles and other policies.

- Develop short- and longer-term plan for the Human Resources.
- Prepare budget and investment plan.
- Delivering Products on time, with the requested level of quality to customer and at the right cost.
- Leads the manufacturing site, related processes, and staff in the execution of activities that lead to world class operational performance
- Drive productivity improvements activities through continuous improvements.
- Drive the industrialization of new production processes for the plant.
- Launch new products with respect of lead time and cost.
- Support local sourcing for the whole group.
- Implement and develop an Automotive application center together with the BU R&D Manager to support the Group as well as the local customers.
- Maintain the relationship with the local Authorities.

Requirements

- Engineering Degree in Mechanical or Electronic, completed with business administration
- At least +5 years experiences in Management in Automotive industry mainly in Production with strong knowledge in all norms.
- Fluent in English; German will provide a real advantage.
- European working for several years in China or native Chinese with several years experiences in European companies

Personal Skills

- Communication, responsiveness, creative, flexibility, autonomy, teamwork and organizational priorities, stress resistance, trainer
- Microsoft Office + ERP Knowledge

Please send your resume to: sh-recruitment@ccifc.org